GUIDING PRINCIPLES AND COMMUNITY IDENTITY

Clairemont Community Plan Update
Online Engagement Activity #1

April 10, 2017

Clairemont
Engaged

INTRODUCTION

Overview

As part of the Clairemont Community Plan Update, the City of San Diego launched an online engagement activity starting on February 15, 2017 and ending on March 1, 2017. The online engagement activity was the first significant effort in a series of in-person and online public outreach that will be conducted as part of the community plan update.

A total of 272 people responded to the online engagement activity to provide feedback on Draft Guiding Principles for the Clairemont Community Plan Update and input to help define the identity of the Clairemont community. Input collected through the online engagement activity will be considered as part of the Clairemont Community Plan Update.

Format of Online Engagement Activity

Through a website—www.ClairemontPlan.org— created specifically for the Clairemont Community Plan Update, a specific interactive activity was developed with the purpose of getting feedback from the public on the Draft Guiding Principles and the identity of the Clairemont community. The City of San Diego launched the online engagement activity on February 15, 2017 and it was closed on March 1, 2017.

Information about the online engagement activity was distributed to approximately 14,000 people who had previously expressed interest in the community plan update or other related projects in the Clairemont community. In addition, the online engagement activity was also disseminated through City email distribution lists and social media outlets.

The online engagement activity included five steps that were intended to share information about the guiding principles with the community and to collect input and feedback from the public. The five steps of the online engagement activity include:

Part 1: A webpage was created to introduce the online engagement activity and provide an overview of the purpose and process for providing input.

Part 2: Another webpage was created to share the Draft Guiding Principles and for people to learn about their purpose in the community plan update.

Part 3: Before providing input, visitors were asked to login using an account with basic information, such as name, address, and email. Login information was required to help track input, assess whether people live within the community plan area, and to minimize the potential for people to provide multiple responses.

Part 4: People were asked to prioritize the Draft Guiding Principles by clicking and dragging the guiding principle they felt was most important to them to the top of the list. Conversely, the lowest priority guiding principle was placed at the bottom of the list. People also had an opportunity to suggest a new guiding principle and to provide additional comments to be considered as part of the community plan update.

Part 5: A separate question asked an open-ended question: “What do you think the identity of the Clairemont community is?” This allowed people to provide their perspective and input to help articulate the identity and character of Clairemont.

Appendix A includes a record of the text and images from all parts of the online questionnaire.

Methodology for Analysis of Responses

It is important to note that results are not statistically significant. Participation and responses are from individuals that self-selected; they were not selected randomly. Therefore, the sample (all responses) should not be interpreted as representative of the overall population. The results and themes presented are a summary of the responses that were received.

- 1. Cataloging Comments. Comments collected via the online engagement activity were compiled and formatted to enable analysis.
- 2. Extracting Location Information. People were asked to provide their address, which were geocoded to create points on a map. The location data was used to identify how many comments came from inside the Clairemont Community Plan Area, and how many came from outside.
- 3. Review and Analysis of Qualitative Statements. All the input was reviewed through an online database. “Tags” were applied to each response to identify key themes. The tags were then used to identify the relative frequency of different themes among the comments. The tags provide the foundation for the percentages used in this report.

Summary

A total of 272 people participated in the online engagement activity, and 94% were from within the Clairemont Community Plan Area. Table 1 shows the responses by topic area that was included in the online engagement activity. Each of the four topic areas provided a different opportunity for people to provide input through the online engagement activity. The different topics were optional and not everyone responded to every topic. The topics are described in more detailed above. Appendix B includes a record of all the responses received as part of the online engagement activity.

Table 1 - Responses by Topic Included in the Online Engagement Activity

Topic	# of Responses	% of Total
Prioritization of Guiding Principles	253	93%
Suggested Other Guiding Principle	51	19%
Other Comments	96	35%
What do you think the identity of the Clairemont community is?	171	63%

Where did responses come from?

A total of 272 people participated in the online engagement activity, and 94% were from within the Clairemont Community Plan Area. A map showing the addresses of people who submitted responses to the online engagement activity is provided in Figure 1.

Which of the Draft Guiding Principles was the highest priority overall?

Although the ultimate outcome of the online activity was to identify support for or agreement with the Draft Guiding Principles for the Clairemont Community Plan Update, prioritization of the Draft Guiding Principles indicated a level of agreement with the proposed Draft Guiding Principles. Table 2 shows the prioritization results of the Draft Guiding Principles. Overall, the Draft Guiding Principle that was the top priority of all response was: "Protection of canyons as community assets." It was the top choice of 29% of responses, and had an average weighted score of 6.9. However, "Maintain single-family neighborhoods" was most frequently selected as the top priority; it was the top response of 31% of responses and, but had an weighted score of 5.6. "A diversity of new housing choices along transit corridors" and "Community identity that enhances Clairemont's sense of place and history" were the Draft Guiding Principles that were prioritized the lowest.

The weighted score is calculated by giving the top choice a score equal to the total number of options (9), the second choice the total minus one (8), and so on, such that the lowest priority gets a score of (1). The weighted score for each of the Draft Guiding Principles is the sum of the results across all respondents. The average score is equal to the weighted score divided by the total number of responses.

Other Guiding Principles

As part of the prioritization of the Draft Guiding Principles, and in response to “What matters most to you?”, people had the option to add another guiding principle. This allowed people to suggest a guiding principle that they felt was not reflected in the Draft Guiding Principles.

Many of the suggestions for other guiding principles were related to the Draft Guiding Principles, but more detail was provided. Table 3 shows how many of the suggested guiding principles relate to the Draft Guiding Principles.

Other topics that didn’t have a strong relationship to the Draft Guiding Principles include:

- Code enforcement and zoning issues including: her code related issues, such as noise, trash, leash, short-term rentals, overcrowding, and marijuana related code issues. (6 comments)
- Crime and safety. (3 comments)

Open-Ended Comments

As part of the online engagement activity people had the opportunity to provide open-ended comments. Although some of the 96 open-ended comments were related to the Draft Guiding Principles, they did not necessarily address them specifically. The responses were generally related to the Clairemont Community Plan Update and other issues facing the Clairemont community that people felt were important. Key themes of the open-ended comments include:

- Opposition to density and additional growth in the community, (18% of open-ended comments), and support for keeping the existing height limit (13% of comments). Most of these comments sought to preserve the existing single-family residential character of the community.
- Support for improvements to walking (14% of open-ended comments), biking (13% of open-ended comments), and transit (11% of open-ended comments). These comments generally sought to improve connections within the community to key destinations such as shopping centers and other nearby assets like Mission Bay. Other comments were opposed to improvements in biking, walking, and transit because they were perceived as creating congestion for cars.

- Some open-ended comments expressed concerns about the safety and security of the community and that more could be done to prevent crime (11% of open-ended comments). Homelessness was a frequently cited problem that many perceived as getting worse.
- Some suggested that options for dining, retail, entertainment, and other commercial uses in the community could be improved (10% of open-ended comments). A desire to have another grocery store was a frequent comment (7 open-ended comments). Others suggested that aesthetic improvements could be made to shopping centers would be appreciated and could lead to better tenants. Many comments supported family owned businesses within the community and a desire to see more of them rather than big box retail as a way to enhance community identity.
- Canyons and open space were also identified as an important community asset that should be protect, leveraged, and improved upon (9% of open-ended comments). Comments cited a variety of issues, including the protection of Rose Creek, fixing Marian Bear Memorial Park and improving the trails, and improving access to Mission Bay.

What is the identity of Clairemont?

The online engagement activity asked people: “What do you think the identity of the Clairemont community is?” The themes that were raised most frequently include:

- Clairemont is a community that is family friendly and a diverse community. Family, raising children, or growing up in the community were one of the most frequent themes (34% of the identity responses). Many comments also highlighted the range of age, income, and ethnic and religious groups that make up Clairemont (20% of the identity response).
- Clairemont is centrally located in the City of San Diego. The ability to access all that San Diego has to offer within a close drive and the convenience that the neighborhood itself offered was a prominent theme (25% of identity responses).
- Many people suggested that the identity of Clairemont was in its roots as a post-war suburb made up of single family residences (18% of identity comments).
- Clairemont is an affordable community that is home to many working/middle class people (16% of identity comments).
- Other frequent topics include: the potential in the future (12%); safety and crime issues (12%); dining / shopping / entertainment (12%).

Online Engagement Activity #1

Getting Started

We want to hear your input on the Draft Guiding Principles for the Clairemont Community Plan Update! We will be collecting input until March 1, 2017.

There are five steps:

1. Learn More About the Guiding Principles
2. Create an Account and Login
3. What matters to you? Share your feedback back on which of the guiding principles.
4. What do you think the identity of the Clairemont community is? Provide your input and share your ideas.
5. Share other comments.

Learn About the Guiding Principles

What are Guiding Principles of a Community Plan and why are they needed?

Guiding Principles are a series of broad, community-wide "need statements" that reflect the core values of the community and make up the vision of the community plan. These principles are expressed throughout the community plan as desired outcomes. These statements form the foundation of plan goals and recommendations, inform land use decisions, and provide a point of reference when it comes to considering plan policies.

Who creates the Guiding Principles and when will they be created?

The community is being asked to prioritize and provide input regarding the Guiding Principles for the new Clairemont Community Plan. As a starting point, City Planning staff has come up with a set of draft guiding principles based on an evaluation of the adopted Clairemont Mesa Community Plan and previous input by the Clairemont Mesa Planning Committee's Visioning Task Force.

A report-out on the results will be provided at the Community Plan Update Ad-hoc Subcommittee meeting in March and posted online at www.clairemontplan.org.

Where will the Guiding Principles be included in the new community plan?

The Guiding Principles will be listed and discussed in the introduction of the community plan.

Comment:	To help the understaffed Police Department, the building code compliance department needs to shift gears from passive compliance to active. Currently, inspectors only address issues reported in an RFI rather than correcting all compliance issues found at a noncompliance property.
Identity:	I have found that currently, Clairemont is often the third move for many. First, is Mission beach for party-ers, college students and vacationers. Second, is PB where people can find housing that is not on top of each other and can sleep peacefully most nights. Clairemont is where people can commute to work easily, maybe start a family, peruse their dreams and thrive.

Comment:	The second comment should state "safe and efficient facilities for people on foot, bike, and using various transit modes" as everyone in a car is already catered to and prioritized above others in regards to safety/speed/ease of use.
Identity:	Currently the identity is "I got mine, get yours somewhere else", failing to understand how selfish and unsustainable this is. Blocking housing near transit that allows for people to not need a car seems odd when your beachfront view is blighted by an eight lane freeway dumping pollution in your home. It's hard to meet your neighbors when you only see them inside a car speeding to wherever.

Own GP:	Maintain the 30 ft building height limit in Bay Park, Clairemont & Linda Vista
Comment:	Fix pot holes & resurface streets. Put utilities underground. Encourage building of single family homes and limit growth of apartments & condos. Encourage more family-owned businesses to come to the Clairemont Village and Clairemont Town Square. Discourage big $$ special interests from building concrete jungles in our communities. Don't squeeze more buildings into small areas which only degrades the surrounding community. Upgrade and maintain the infrastructure systems in Bay Park, Clairemont & Linda Vista. Encourage more senior centers and activities (take a hint from San Francisco Parks & Recreations).

Comment:	As a former community planner for Pacific Beach, we dedicated Rose Creek as open space. Not sure if Clairemont has linked up with that aspect, but they should. May be decades before doing such yields results, which I envision would be a more proactive protection of this canyon area by enjoining the city to do their fair share...but who knows? Miracles can and sometimes do happen.

Comment:	Density is critical to how people feel about the location. Too many apartments, condos, stacked up on top of each other is creating issues of community spirit. Smoking is one problem. Ban it in public places and on balconies, patios, etc. the smoke in the air is community space that affects people not on the private patio. In a single family home, hopefully space helps people avoid the harmful affects from others.

Comment:	For me the biggest threat to the quality of life in Clairemont is the people driving through that don't recognize it as a community and set of neighborhoods and characterless strip, chain, and formula development. This is such a complicated issue. The auto centrism is so depressing. Please do not increase capacity of the roadways, except for improving bike and ped facilities for all ages and abilities. Please slow traffic down on our main arteries - Balboa, Clmt Mesa Blvd., Genesee, Clmt Drive. I'm all for increased density and improved transit, but not more big box shopping. The whole Balboa-Genesee shopping area is really blight and pollution - but I know huge tax revenue. Help shape Clairemont into a healthy place to raise families - not a place to avoid the freeways and shop at big box stores. The efforts to improve bike infrastructure are appreciated. The sidewalk infill projects are appreciated. Thank you for the libraries, parks and canyon open spaces.

Comment:	I would like Clairemont parks and recreation areas to be better-maintained, I would like to see more dog-friendly parks and places. I would like to see Clairemont and Bay Park embrace their history and identity and forge their rightful places in the overall history of San Diego. Supporting local mom and pop type businesses is important; we could do without another Sprouts, I would have rather had Keils. I'm tired of seeing local establishments close here. More affordable housing is an absolute must, sustainability in terms of energy and protection of the environmental assets we have such as canyons and the Mission Bay park area is also a must.
Identity:	I think of Clairemont as home. It is the only place I've lived since I moved to San Diego and made it my home. Clairemont has been a tight-knit but laid back community in my eyes. I love the ability to go to the coffee shop or a park and be greeted by friendly and familiar faces of people who know my name. The local businesses here really shine, but don't get enough support. Clairemont offers a small town vibe right in the heart of a coastal Californian city. With sprawling canyons, easy access to all freeways, and a 20-minute-or-less drive to beaches, mountains, night life, and much more we have a lot to offer but are little known. We are by no means a "hip" neighborhood and I like that we don't pretend to be. We are a dog loving, family oriented, community oriented town and that is what I love about it. What we need to work on are supporting more local businesses (get more in and keep them there), maintaining community assets like parks and canyons (adding more dog friendly, off-leash dog areas), and bringing in local artisans and artists (possibly commissioning local neighborhood art/murals).

Comment:	Major streets such as Clairemont Mesa and Clairemont Drive need beautification. Trashy rentals and homes that need TLC really effect the image of the neighborhood. Old, outdated strip malls overlooking our beautiful Mission Bay are such a blight on the community. The city owns property for storing their vehicles on Morena Blvd. The fencing is horrible and of the cheapest quality. This community has so many needs that it is hard to know where to begin.

Identity:	At this time it seems to be going through a value and appreciation boost. However, the overall look of the community is still quite tacky. Clairemont Mesa Blvd and Clairemont Drive are filled with slum-like rentals. It is embarrassing to have company drive through these streets. I'm really not sure what can be done to get owners to take more pride in their properties for the good of the community. Sadly, the property values have gone up but the quality of the neighborhood does not match. I would like to purchase another home for my daughter in the community but when I go to inspect a home, I am disappointed with the way the street looks. She also would like to live near me but is disappointed with many of the neighborhoods she has visited.

Comment:	We need code enforcement to get our single family housing back. We have too many rentals turning into rooming house with too many people living in one house. Too many codes not being enforced so people do what they want, not what is the law. This is taking the quality of life down in Clairemont.

Comment:	I have owned and lived in 2 homes in Bay Park since 1982, both SFR. My desire would be to retain that sense of a SFR community with absolutely no new, high-rise density or new affordable housing. No new condos or apts. The City has ruined Mission Valley with the massive Civita development. Please don't let that happen again and repeat that horrid development mistake in Bay Park / Bay Ho / Morena.

Identity:	Clairemont is an area that is aging, and not aging well. There are so few quality shops and restaurants in our neighborhood. The roads are in disrepair. Many single family homeowners are not upkeeping their properties, and trailers/RVs/dilapidated cars line the streets and driveways.

Comment:	Walking from one store in clairmont town square to another is treacherous. A clear and central pedestrian walkway should be made, perhaps with a park in the middle? This would improve the quality of the shopping center, be relatively inexpensive to build, and draw better retailers to the complex.

Comment:	I don't know how the planning decisions get made but it seems that more mistakes are happening all the time: Tavera Ridge which doesn't fit in at all with the neighborhood; the hideous car wash at the bottom of Clairemont drive; empty bike lanes on Balboa and Clairemont Dr. that disrupt the flow of traffic; lots that have been abandoned for years while the neighborhood needs grocery stores. And now everything grinding to a halt while the trolley is built. Community confidence in the process is totally eroded.
Identity:	Clairemont has a wonderful history of being a community for workers in the post-war aerospace and aviation industry. The block I grew up on was home to several engineers who worked at Ryan Aeronautics. Other neighborhoods were home to Convair or General Dynamics employees. There are wonderful mid-century modern homes, schools, churches and buildings that should be highlighted and preserved. SOHO has identified many of these structures. The former editor of the Clairemont Community News and president of K-Co construction was instrumental in highlighting the history and significance of Clairemont. Since his passing, some of this energy has been lost. I have heard it said many times that Clairemont is the closest thing to a small town in San Diego. It definitely has a small town vibe that is at risk of being lost to vacation and student rentals.

Comment: Canyons are a wonderful asset for Clairemont - but not if people are afraid to enter them due to unleashed dogs. Don't waste money on upgrades if you're not going to insure people feel safe using them. In this age of cell phones and killer apps, it shouldn't be difficult for people to report a crime and get a response quickly. I'd make that system priority #1.

Identity: I'd like the community feeling we get in Balboa Park, from the dozens of groups which use meeting rooms for their weekly or monthly meetings. I'd like to see more of that in Clairemont.

The senior centers and library community rooms are a good start, but are difficult to schedule.

Free meeting rooms could foster the growth of groups which would define the community in ways we couldn't guess now. (Literary, gardening, dance, nature, personal growth, support, etc.)

So, my answer is to discover our community's identity by allowing it to develop.

Identity:	I am and so are my neighbors surrounding the Mosque, are very upset about the traffic and over grown population of the Mosque. I live on Amoroso and the traffic on Friday is very congested. I have written the director of the Mosque and made a suggestion to use the surrounding church parking lots. They could then bus easily there patrons to the Mosque. Their parking of their cars are sometimes very irresponsible and they park partially in our driveways. Please understand, all I am saying it is about time that someone do something about this. I even had a mother from the Mosque ask to park in my driveway so she could pick up her child at the school. She felt that the over grown Mosque is a problem too. What can be done about this? Something needs to be done. We are all sooo tired of the traffic on Fridays and the people parking in our driveways.

Identity:	We need to continue to focus on keeping up with growth and development of the community while maintaining a sustainable and neighborhood feel. We should also push the city to begin putting the power lines under ground as it would go a long way aesthetically. One specific area that could use some help is encouraging more local restaurants to open in the north Clairmont area. In particular sit-down restaurants as many of our residents go to other neighborhoods for dining. Finally, Clairmont is clearly a neighborhood that is up and coming and thus planning should take this into account.

Comment:	As our city continues to grow, it's important for our neighborhoods to continue to have a village feel that welcomes pedestrians, cyclists to a central place surrounded by cafes, businesses, little park or squares, and a mix of residential options including condos and town homes. Single family homes are more wasteful and insular forms of housing and are unsustainable and do not create a true community space for people to share... while I think some SF homes make sense as options, I also think new development should focus on higher density residential that encourages walking and supporting of local businesses in centralized nodes where people can sit and enjoy their community.

Widen the existing underpass on Balboa west of Morena to safely accommodate pedestrians and bicyclists utilizing the Balboa Station. Improve sidewalks on Balboa east of Morena for safe ped/bike access to Balboa Station.
Identity:	Clairemont's identity stems from the post-WW11 era when houses sprang up overnight to accommodate young military families after the war. It had a strong identity then, but has been struggling to define itself since. Clairemont is the largest-in area community in San Diego County. Its residents are economically diverse, families, and mid-century single family residences. It has maybe the best climate in SD, great location near beaches and freeways, breathtaking canyons and vistas. It really needs a little help to re-vamp its neighborhoods, like North Park, South Park, City Hts, - and now even Barrio Logan is gentrifying. Clairemont needs the same with redevelopment funding and a good leader to care and advocate for it. What Clairemont doesn't need is to be sacrificed to the developers who want to build huge hi-density apts/condos, then take the money and run! All this just so the City can make more property taxes!

Build the Regents Road bridge connection into UC to reduce impacts on Genesee Ave., as originally called for in Community Plan. Allow quality higher density development near future trolley stations and improve pedestrian and bike connections to those stations. Improve book selection and appearance of local libraries. Clairemont could use a makeover in appearance in many places; encourage planting more street trees to enhance property values.

Identity:	We have just moved back to Clairemont after being gone for 5 years. We have noticed many changes, some good and some not so good. Love the new Balboa shopping center idea, we do wish it had included a park. We would love to see more walking paths, and "greenways" with shops and restaurants, maybe another movie theater? We know Clairemont does not have the real estate for a Liberty Station type draw, but the Clairemont Square and Balboa/Genesse shopping centers could be made a lot more walking friendly, Luna Grill and the Habit are great examples; too bad they also overlook a parking lot. The parking spaces along all of those restaurants could be transformed into a small park. Just across Balboa is another lovely cluster of restaurants, why could that center parking lot not be a park? There is plenty of parking in both centers already. We loved that the entrance to Balboa was closed off by Chapotle, take it another step and make it a park with tables, benches and maybe even a small playground. Clairemont Square has had a group of wonderful restaurants that for years have been a great to go for a fun, relaxing evening out. Another change we have noticed is amount of pass through traffic that has increased 10 fold. Every car is in such a hurry to get somewhere else. THAT is the problem! This is sad to us because Clairemont is such a wonderful central location, and most of the development has been car centered. Not to beat a dead horse! BUT, driving through Clairemont has its hazard as well, it amazes us that considering the mild climate we enjoy here, our roads are a complete shambles! Clairemont Mesa, Balboa, Genesse Blvd are STILL a mess, and to boot I would not walk/ride a bike on any of those roads if it was a life or death situation. Chateau! well, that road would be better if it were dirt! Shameful. We would love to see the trolley come through, with some "greenways" to help slow the traffic and encourage walking, biking and recreation here in Clairemont. It is not a mystery what makes a community enviable, future development should be required a certain amount of square footage be allotted to parks or a place to spend some time, not just to hurry in and get out. Thank you for allowing this input.

Identity:	Clairemont is know for being laid back with jobs that sustain a person living within it's community, or a very nearby community. It therefore is was above in "Finest" (aka: America's Finest City). Sadly, in it, like many many other local communities/neighborhoods within our city, working(:living as in livelihood) near your home, or even your community/neighborhood has gotten more & more remote. Constituent based rules, activities and support seem to be of little true concern over power & money/profits. We are continually separating ourselves from our neighbors, family, and friends...while becoming more & more limited to only internet connectivity rather than sharing a "malt", meal, or movie/play. My prayers is that via new Transit systems (w/ real connectivity to all), with good paying jobs close by, and with more public/ open spaces (many sponsored by local businesses) we will grow back to the canyon searching children of our past...Sincerely yours, ~daniel, human

Identity:	Clean, safe, family friendly, single family home neighborhood with good school and parks. I am not liking the increase in fast food chains. The new shopping centers and shopping center re-vamps are missing a community center, with a fountain or a park with benches and tables to hang out and 'go' to. There is not 'center' or 'square', there is no where to hang out. It is so car-dominated. How about a brewery or nice restaurant (with outdoor space like a Bier-Garten idea) where you can go and hang out with neighbors, friends, talk and visit?

Own GP: Infrastructure and facilities to meet "existing" neighborhoods

Comment:

Support of existing zoning is vital to retaining the character of our our community. A focus on upgrading areas of blight, while retaining existing zoning, would be a win/win (Incentives, tax breaks, solar, etc.). I believe the focus of the 20 year plan, should be to support the existing community vs bringing in more people via higher density. Very little raw land remains for development. Rezoning to allow higher density would, IMO, impact the existing quality of life of the community that you're representing.

Developing and fighting for proper budgeting of maintaining/upgrading existing infrastructure is important, and frankly 'City Hall' has not done well on this.

I'm also in favor of replacing the in many areas ~70 year old power/phone/cable lines, with underground utilities with fiber vs copper on the cable. (Not like the Burgener Blvd miss managed effort, digging up the same streets multiple times and still ending up for years with 'half telephone' poles. Coordinate this intelligently with comprehensive street repairs.) The enhancement of view corridors of water, canyons should be a priority, as enhanced views raise real estate values, and thus City Revenues via higher Property Taxes.

Focus supporting the volume of your 'existing' home/condo owners vs developers pushing for revised zoning. Be our voice in City Hall to protect existing zoning regulations.

Identity:

This is a great way of improving pride of community. And we do have a interesting history. However, so many much more important problems and opportunities should be the focus of the Claremont Plan. Get 'our existing neighborhood back in order' as the priority, before spending much effort on 'identity'.

If a sub panel of volunteers would take this on, great, but keep the Claremont Plan eye on the ball - fix our streets, infrastructure and protect out existing zoning and neighborhoods that home/condo owners considered when choosing this neighborhood.

Comment: Bay Park was not a desirable neighborhood 20 years ago, these of us who grew up and have raised our families here do not want the city to allow developers to come in and cram people in every nook and cranny! We have a quaint neighborhood we do not want more growth! we are full.

Comment: Something needs to be done about the homeless population. Ignoring them or shooing them away is not an effective strategy. I would like Clairemont Mesa to be a role model for providing needed services for the homeless population like a one-stop service center. This could be a complex that provides shelter with referrals to guaranteed housing partners, mental health services, substance abuse programs, social enrichment programs, self-care facilities, security, and job services. It is important to approach such a project with the understanding that homeless individuals are typically not just people without homes. That means that job services need to be specialized and population-specific. Perhaps that category of service could follow the model of the Regional Centers who provide "Supported Employment Programs" so that participants can learn or improve their job skills, coping skills, and feeling of worth from an earned income in an environment free from harassment.

Comment:	Clairemont is a population dense neighborhood. We are the center point neighborhood of San Diego. Let's make it a prime neighborhood as well, capitalizing on our diversity. Prime neighborhoods are built primarily through high quality schools (at all levels) and community resources like parks. We need to maintain a safe, high quality community including our schools, quality of housing, parks and community resources. I do not want to see the building height increased. I do not want to see Clairemont turn into high-rises. We should maintain our building height restrictions. We have beautiful views of the ocean and canyon. Don't ruin that with high rises.
Identity:	See previous comment. We are centrally located, our importance to the city should be central as well. We should strive to have high quality schools, community engagement and celebrate our diversity.

With the train coming in the next couple years it would be an awesome way to encourage restaurants like Red Card, and brew pubs like Bitter Bros to move in. We do lots of hiking in the canyons and streets during the evening and love an outing as a reward for our efforts. Right now it is like a death march to cross Morena from the Costco side to go to the restaurant and pub.

Identity:	I don't believe there is a single identity for Clairemont, because the demographics of each of the sub communities differ greatly. In the area of Clairemont that I live in (just north of Linda Vista) we are much more diverse in socioeconomic status as well as ethnic background. My perception of our little piece of paradise is that we are more like Linda Vista than our neighbors to the west and North. Our schools are LV schools and we are most often an afterthought in any Clairemont related conversation. I love our Clairemont community and hope that we can all be heard - not just those with the loudest voices. Own GP:	A focus on housing affordability by thoughtful increases in the housing stock to ensure our kids and grand kids can afford to live here too.
Comment:	I'm excited to see how the community that I grew up in will change as San Diego continues to grow. We should ensure that we add housing supply near transit to encourage less auto use and more neighborhood walkability. The increased foot traffic will drive business growth, more restaurants and coffee shops, and lead to a healthier lifestyle. As this starts to happen the neighborhoods around these amenities will become more attractive (not less, as some would have you believe).
Identity:	Clairemont / Bay Park is the hidden gem of San Diego that seems to have been recently uncovered. I think this is good for all who live here as it will bring investment in the form of increased housing which leads to more housing affordability, amenities that the neighborhoods can enjoy, and ultimately a high quality of living. We must encourage policy that moves us away from the status quo, of the fear that growth will ruin neighborhood character.

Identity:	We are relatively new to Clairemont, here just over one year. That said, we are fully invested in this area and intend to live here at least 10-20 years. I think the Clairemont identity is a mixture of original resident homeowners. There is a mid-century (20th) feel to the area, in ways both good and bad, but I think the community would do well to emphasize and preserve examples of good mid-century architecture. I feel hopeful about the new Trolley extension to UCSD, but wish it could double back into Clairemont from the UTC area (and I wish the original plan for a Jutland Dr. station was still in the plan). I appreciate the diversity of economic and ethnic backgrounds that are represented fairly well in this area, and I'd like to see that continued and promoted.

Identity:	A quiet, peaceful, family neighborhood that seems like a small town community in the city. We have been in our Clairemont home for 59 years. There are still neighbors who have lived on our block for 62 years. Everyone told us, "people in San Diego don't live in the same house very long, they move on or move up." But Clairemont is different...most people in our church and neighborhood don't leave, and don't move on until they die. Please, let us keep Clairemont a COMMUNITY that people don't want to leave because it is their nest, their safe place to raise their families and grow old among friends. ! There is a lot of talk of a need for diversity for Clairemont. We have diversity. Perhaps because so many old timers bought here after navy duty, we welcomed a wide ethnic cross section and continue to welcome anyone of any ethnicity who wants to join our neighborhood. It is a natural integration, not an artificially contrived quota integration that social planners who look at every neighborhood as an anonymous number of people of x, people y, and people z. We aren't anonymous numbers, we are people who want to keep our neighborhood the way it is.

Identity:	It is a single family community, having a few named sub-communities within. I think it should stay this way. I have been here for 40+ years and have witnessed the changes ie: Mission Valley and the onslaught of Condos and traffic. Clairemont should be smarter than this, to allow this concept within our community

Comment:	There is an unrealistic push by SANDAG to implement their "climate action plan". Electric cars are more realistic than trying to force everyone to use public transportation which is woefully impractical, inefficient. and excessively expensive. We're not giving up our cars.
Identity:	Clairemont is an area of neighborhoods comprised of primarily single family houses with yards. The canyons which occur in various places throughout Clairemont are a wonderful aspect of living here. Tecolote canyon is a precious part of Clairemont. The proximity to and views of Mission Bay and the beach areas contribute to making this a fantastic place to live. These things must remain as is.

Identity:	Predominately white middle class families. Also a lot of People in the Navy. The community is aging a bit too, so it's time to start turning over the coals a little to reinvigorate the young families who are moving in. Being from San Diego, I've honestly thought claremont as the east county of the west. That said, I like it here. But would like it just a little updated. Just a little. It's important to maintain the nice small town feel we have in much of the community.

Comment:	I am against cramming to may homes in a small space especially when adequate parking is not included. The proposed housing at the old school site appears to be to dense without enough parking. We do need more housing but not to fill the pockets of the developer and leave the community with a density the surrounding community can't handle. I am totally against housing above 3 stories tall on the Moreno Blvd corridor.

Comment:	I don't imagine that many will choose "A diversity of new housing choices along transit corridors" as a high priority. It just doesn't sound as important as the other safe and friendly choices on here. However, if people understood that opening our restrictions to lure developers leads to a reduction in unsafe vacant lots, dilapidated storefronts/apartment building/houses, even a possible reduction in crime from developing the RV parks (non-PC statement, I know) then perhaps they'd prioritize this higher. I'm not sure how to compose such a thought of course...just providing my opinion is all.
Identity:	I don't think that it's possible to properly capture Clairemont's identity in a single statement. The Convoy corridor, the Morena Blvd corridor, the neighborhoods along the canyons...they all have their own identities and values. The only thing they have in common is that they are so central within SD county - in between the larger business districts (e.g. Mira Mesa, La Jolla, Downtown). I'd think that with this location that Clairemont should be more of a destination rather than a place to pass through. As redevelopment dollars are being thrown at numerous locations throughout the city (e.g. North Park, Encinitas, La Mesa) that Clairemont does what it needs to do to get some investment money here as well. Certain locations within Clairemont are ripe for redevelopment and it would be unfortunate if those who continue to fight against change allow for certain areas to continue to erode.

Identity:	FYI, Convoy St. is not included in this study because the study area Eastern border is 805/Linda Vista Rd. Clairemont was originally housing for military base workers and General Dynamics employees. As Clairemont continues to evolve Western Clairemont will become even more white professional, Eastern Clairemont will become more Muslim and our canyons will become horribly polluted homeless encampments. IMHO, Clairemont is a neighborhood of anonymous individuals. It has been a place where you might know a few neighbors near you but most you don't know. You might wave to them as you drive past and you might know their name but probably not. In Clairemont, we don't know each other because we drive two blocks to the store rather than walk or bike. How can we know our neighbors if we only see them through windshield glass? Why is this? Because when you bike or walk in Clairemont, you talk your life into your own hands. Clairemont was designed as a car-centric community. Let's change the identity of Clairemont from it's car-centric present to it's walkable, bikeable future. Let's build a community where people know each other because they feel safe walking and bikeing. FYI, SanDAG is planing a trolley line from Crystal Pier to Santee running down Balboa Ave. for 2035. I would like to see a community amphitheater in Clairemont

Comment:	We need to keep our single family neighborhoods but ensure that there is housing for those who are working their way up. Having this housing along transit corridors and closer to commercial areas makes sense. That being said we must KEEP the 30 foot height limit along Morena Boulevard. I'd also like to see easier, safer walking and bike access to Mission Bay. And there needs to be an investment in our local schools to attract young families
Identity:	I've lived in Clairemont/Bay Ho for over 25 years and I see Clairemont as a family friendly, centrally located suburban community with incredible natural resources (many canyons and close to Mission Bay and the Pacific Ocean). Own GP: Restore Car lanes where bicycle lanes have removed them. Remove bicycle icons for ride anywhere, any speed on single lane roads.

Comment:

While I support making bicycle riding safer through bicycle lanes, I can't tell you how frustrated I am by bicycle lanes making traffic worse by removing car lanes to have them, as well as blocking off extra lanes like turn lanes, etc. I'm also very much against the icons on roads that allow bicyclists to ride anywhere in the lane, at any speed, on roads/lanes where there's a single lane and no passing. I'm also frustrated by the majority of bicyclists who want all the rights of a regular vehicle, but ignore all the regulations, especially traffic lights and stop signs. Let's get the police giving hearty tickets to them for such infractions. Remember, bicyclists aren't paying road use taxes (usually through gas taxes). If they want their own lanes, let them organize and perhaps license themselves to pay for such improvements. I do NOT believe that making more bicycle lanes will end the traffic problems we have now and will have in the future. The fact that the trolley still is so limited in where it goes, and gov't is so scared of hurting stupid people that they can't run ON the streets (as they do and have in many cities, including SD), is very frustrating. The politics of it all is ridiculous. NO station in the middle of UCSD? Hah! No trolley up Mission Blvd., especially as more and more parking is removed for "beautification"? Dumb. Trolleys, or buses should be EVERYWHERE, since we don't have and won't have communities built around walkability to shopping, etc. All the city cares about it increasing population density. Fortunately, it's unlikely my neighborhood won't be rezoned for such blight in my lifetime.

Comment:	Transients have been a community issue for a long time and it's not getting any better; I have found that those that are within my area actually grew up and went to school as children in the community that they now roam the streets in; one is the son of the owners of Giovanni's. The corner of Balboa & Genesee is getting worse, they sleep on the lawn, loiter around by the eateries, camp by the driveways with signs begging for $. Aside from the transients, there are others in need of a handout that hold signs up within the parking lot near Target or Food court, with infants or young children, begging for $. No community can be a community without a Community Meeting Room; in Clairemont there needs to be one in the South and one in the North. Perhaps a church could be purchased or leased out if there are no buildings available. Having a small police station where people can go to talk about Clairemont issues and meet police officers is very important. We used to have a community room and a police station by Vons off Clairemont Mesa Blvd. How can a community be a community without a meeting place and a small police station. Another issue is to have address numbers on businesses that can be seen while driving by; my brother lives in Eastvale a new community and every building has address numbers. Here in Clairemont check out the number of businesses where there is no address listed or cannot be seen. It's very annoying! Clairemont needs a small recycling place where we can take light bulbs, batteries and such; otherwise those things go in our landfills. We need to bring better restaurants here; we only have one organic restaurant and that is Havana Grill on Cl Mesa Blvd. And how often are restaurants checked for cleanliness in this area?! Our streets were better before Mayor Sanders; after him some of our streets look like Tijuana. Cement made over a thousand years ago continues to harden and remain viable to this day. I Surely we can make better roads that don't have potholes; the cement they are using is not lasting and I can tell the difference between how our streets used to stand up to traffic and the deplorable potholes I have to drive around after every rain now. What is going on with the vendors being hired by the City???

I want to say a thank you to police dispatchers and police officers in general. We really have a very professional group of men and women. taxpayer monies? When red lights go down as they did the other day at Cl Mesa Blvd and Convoy: there needs to be a standard police procedure that takes care of the problem of directing traffic. Perhaps there could be radar at places that police cannot cover on 163; 163 look like Grand Prie (?) time. It's really dangerous trying to get on at onramp at Genessee and then trying to get off at the offramp to Friars Rd. We need a stop sign at Mt Abbey and Boyd because cars cannot be seen when you are turning left onto Mt Abbey from Boyd. Genessee and Boyd is a very dangerous intersection; people are driving way to fast on Genessee racing to go through the yellow light.

Comment:	We worked hard to be able to purchase a home here. I do not want to destroy the nature of the community because the city is putting in a trolley and is adding too many stops and trying to change the nature of the community to justify what they are doing. This is primarily an owner occupied residential community I'd like to see it stay that way. I'm in favor of some mixed residential projects if the keep in scope and size with the community

Comment:	In order to limit future traffic congestion, maintain a 30 ft height limit for bldgs in the Clairemont, Bay Park and Linda Vista areas
Identity:	Conveniently located community for homes, condos, apartments, schools and businesses with height limits not exceeding 35-45 feet and current reasonable amount of traffic

Comment:	I'm most interested in enhanced public transportation and sustainability for the community. Growth isn't something that I look for, given the age and history of the community.
Identity:	Family, economically middle-class, centrally located community.

Comment:	Clean and safe family oriented community. Our infrastructure (roads, sewers, water, curbs) is fall apart. There are way too much homelessness, graffiti, trash, and crime for being America's Finest City. Our city has the look and feel of a third world city.
Identity:	What identify? Community sandwiched between freeways.

Identity:	Clairemont is a centrally located, uniquely planned community with a culturally diverse population. It is located centrally, providing easy commutes to downtown San Diego and other surrounding cities, and offers conveniently located support facilities (schools, fire stations, libraries, shopping and restaurants) among single family homes.
